City of Langley
Standard Practice with Regard to Requests for Endorsement and Support of State or Federal Issues

It is the standard practice of the City Council of the City of Langley, Washington not to take formal positions (pass resolutions) on matters that don't directly involve the conduct of city business. This is done to focus council and mayor attention on city matters and to preclude dividing the constituency of the city over matters that are more appropriately within the purview of other levels of government.